

Warren Could Quit High Court Oct. 5

EDITOR'S NOTE — Earl Warren, one of the most highly praised and bitterly denounced men ever to serve as Chief Justice of the United States, can retire soon if he wishes, at full pay.

By PAUL M. YOST

WASHINGTON (AP)—In two weeks, Earl Warren can retire as Chief Justice of the United States and draw full $35,500 salary for the rest of his life.

Will he take advantage then of what the law allows? Is he tempted to follow four of his associate justices who—while still able to do their jobs—stepped down finally from the Supreme Court bench?

The law says federal judges may retire at full pay at age 70 if they have served on the bench for ten years. Warren on Oct. 5 will have served ten years. He will be 75 next March 19.

Two days after his tenth anni-more momentous decisions, like those that made Warren's name familiar to millions.

Predictions are that the tall, bulky, white-haired Warren will open the new term with the customary welcoming speeches to new attorneys who ask admission to the bar of the Supreme Court.

Expected To Stay

He is expected to stay on the job as long as he is able to perform his work.

The chief justice has not given newsmen any recent indication of his plans. His last comment on the subject, on his 70th birthday, was that he never gave retirement a thought.

Observers say he still likes the job and they do not believe he plans to retire.

Definite word may come from Warren when tributes are paid to him Wednesday by the State Bar of California.

In an event believed without versary as a judge, the Supreme Court will reassemble for a new term. It is certain to produce precedent, all members of the Supreme Court except one will travel from scattered vacation and work points to San Francisco to participate in honoring Warren. Justice John M. Harlan said he could not attend because of a speaking commitment.

Verbal attacks on Warren reached the point of calls for his impeachment following decisions on school segregation, investigation of Communist activities, legislative reapportionment, and school prayer and Bible-reading practices.

The John Birch Society, among Warren's sharpest critics, sponsored an essay contest on "grounds for impeachment" of the chief justice. His reaction to this and other attacks has been silence.

Answer Critics

In an interview the chief justice indicated he often wished he could answer his critics. Some things said and written made him wince, Warren said. But he continues to adhere to the policy of his predecessors that the Supreme Court should not engage in public debate or defend its decisions.

Even the expression "the Warren court" brings no reaction from him. Some of his defenders have pointed out that the eight associate justices are strong-willed men who vote as they see best and without undue influence from any other judge.

"Nine free men, appointed by the president, they run the court—no one else," says retired justice Felix Frankfurter.

School Integration

Reaction to Warren's opinions in the school segregation cases was aimed mostly at the chief justice. But his defenders point out that each of the associate justices joined in the decisions and in Warren's opinions.

While Warren refrains from speaking out against his critics, he does not hesitate to assert that the legal profession has failed to meet its responsibilities because, as he put it, it has not scrutinized three proposed states' rights constitutional amendments.

The chief justice did not comment on the merits of the proposals, but declared that if they were adopted the character of the American system of government could be radically changed.

Warren has constantly pressed for better administration of the federal court system and speedier handling of crowded court dockets.

The number of appeals filed with the Supreme Court has more than doubled in the last decade, resulting in a constantly increasing work load for all nine justices. Warren has seen justices Stanley F. Reed, Harold H. Burton, Sherman Minton, Charles E. Whitaker and Frankfurter retire.

Military Plane Down In Atlantic

DOVER, Del. (AP)—A massive air-search was underway in the Atlantic Sunday night for an Azores-bound Military Air Transport Service plane reported by the Coast Guard "missing and probably down at sea."

Ten crewmen were aboard the four-engine C133 turboprop Cargo-master when it left Dover Air Force Base at 1:35 a.m., EST, on a 2,280-mile flight to Jages Air Station on the island of Terceira.

A Coast Guard spokesman said 12 search planes from the coast guard, navy and air force were concentrated in a cross-cross operation up to 480 miles east of Cape May, N.J., in a corridor 80 miles wide.

Democrats Stress 'Responsibility'

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said Sunday the Democrats will wage the 1964 campaign on the issue of "responsible government" by the Kennedy administration.

"We are willing to submit the record to the people," he said at a Democratic steer roast.

Johnson said, "We Democrats will take one overriding issue with us into the 1964 campaign: A record of responsible government in a period when America was confronted with some of the greatest challenges in its history. For the past three years," Johnson said "the administration of John F. Kennedy has had to face real issues in a real world."

Inquirer Raises Newspaper Price

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Inquirer will hike its daily price from five cents to eight cents starting Sept. 30, the newspaper announced Sunday. The paper said the Sunday price would remain at 20 cents.

The Inquirer said the increase was due to "ever-mounting costs in the newspaper business." The last increase was March 29, 1948, when the daily went from 3 cents to 5 cents.

Highway Official In Macing Charge

HARRISBURG (AP) — Deputy Highways Secretary Carl W. Wild of State College is scheduled to appear before a U. S. civil service commission Tuesday to answer charges of macing.

Wild, a registered Republican hired by former Gov. George M. Leader, a Democrat, is accused of pressuring Highway Department employees to buy tickets to a $100-a-plate Democratic dinner last fall which featured President Kennedy as the principal speaker.

Wild has denied the charges. The deputy secretary is paid $15,387 a year.

Nile Floods For Last Time

CAIRO (AP)—The annual flood of the Nile has peaked, is dropping and never again will dangerously threaten Egypt's farmers, officials announced Sunday.

By next year the giant dam at Aswan will be far enough along to keep the river below the danger point.

After remaining perilously near the tops of its banks and emergency dikes for 10 days, the Nile at Cairo has fallen two inches in the past 24 hours, due partly to the opening of sluice gates to channel off the water for irrigation.

Quints' Mother Leaves Hospital

ABERDEEN, S.D. (AP)—Mrs. Andrew Fischer, 30-year-old mother of quintuplets, prepared Sunday to leave St. Luke's Hospital, leaving her apparently five healthy infants behind.

The prematurely born babies—four girls and a boy—continued active in their isolettes in St. Luke's nursery. They will remain there at least several more weeks.

3 East Germans Paddle To West

LUEBECK, Germany (AP)—An East German family of three headed for West Germany Saturday aboard a kayak and finally made it about a West German freighter, with the help of two ferry boats which blocked off East German machine gunners.

Hundreds of passengers aboard the two ferry boats sent up cheers as the three were snatched from the grasp of Communist police.

Malaysian Students Demand Military Defense Training

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP)—Hanging an effigy of President Sukarno of Indonesia, 2,000 cheering Malaysian students demanded Sunday they be given military training to defend their young nation. Other groups, representing several hundred thousand Malaysians, also expressed willingness to fight.

At the same time, Indonesia formed a "crush Malaysia action command."

The Malaysian students' call for military training drew prompt answer from Mohamed Sopoie, government information services director, who declared the government would give their demand urgent consideration. He praised the students for setting a good example for the rest of Malaysia, born a week ago by linking the former British colonies of Malaya, Singapore, Sarawak and Sabah (North Borneo).

Support For Malaysia

Almost simultaneously came these expressions of support for Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman, the Malaysian leader of Malaysia.

The youth division of the United Malays National Organization with 200,000 members vowed to defend Malaysia.

—War veterans groups volunteered to fight and train soldiers. —About 3,000 members of the Kinta Valley Home Guards, who fought Communist guerrillas for 12 years, announced they are prepared to bear arms again.

The students, rallying on the grounds of the University of Malaysia in Kuala Lumpur, established an organization called the Malaysian Students Action Committee for the Defense of National Interest. The group will call on Prime Minister Rahman to offer its services to the nation.

'Crush Malaysia'

In Indonesia, meanwhile, the government sponsored National Front formed a nationwide "crush Malaysia action command."

The idea is to coordinate demonstrations of hostility against Malaysia but at the same time see that valuable property is safeguarded.

The group presumably was formed to head off attacks on property owned by foreigners—such as last Wednesday's burning of the British embassy.

The Action Command, an announcement said, will "strive for closer cooperation between the people and the armed forces."

It is believed the command was formed to keep Communists and extreme leftists from taking the upper hand in the anti-Malaysia campaign.

Will Tax Cut Cover Cigarette Money?

EDITORS NOTE — A major battle is due to open in Congress this week over President Kennedy's tax cut bill.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Will an income tax cut produce "cigarette money" for the average taxpayer, or three million new jobs?

The Kennedy administration has tried to put across its $11.1 billion tax reduction proposal as a pep pill for the economy—a stimulus that would provide better business, improved profits, higher wages and more jobs and ease the burden on taxpayers.

Republicans disagree and assert that there should be some guarantee of a check on government spending before a tax cut is put into effect.

Only Smoking Money

One congressional leader who is opposed to the cut said it would provide only "cigarette money" for the average taxpayer.

For some chain smokers, the prospective saving won't even cover cigarettes.

The carton-per-week smoker spends about $117 a year on cigarettes, figured at $2.25 a carton. Two adults who smoke two packs each per day would burn up about $312 a year.

The typical family has an income of about $7,000. The $7,000-a-year man with a wife and two children pays $630 in income taxes, assuming that he itemizes deductions and that these follow the normal pattern.

The $7,000-a-year man cited above would pay $490 under the tax reduction bill scheduled to come up on the House floor this week.

His share of the proposed $8.8 billion reduction in individual taxes would be $131, or about 21 per cent of his present tax bill. The $5,000-a-year man in similar circumstances would get a reduction of $77, but his percentage cut, 26 per cent, would be higher.

Applying the same formula to an income of $10,000 a year would produce a reduction of $202, while the $20,000-a-year man would save $335. At the $100,000 income level the total tax would be reduced 14 per cent, from $36,720 to $31,442.

These computations take into account the revisions which will be made in the tax rules if the bill is passed.

Tax Refunds

Some state taxes no longer would be deductible: tobacco taxes, gasoline taxes, motor vehicle and drivers licenses, taxes on alcoholic beverages and poll taxes.

Taxpayers could continue to deduct real estate taxes, state and local income taxes, personal property taxes and most sales taxes.

Because of these changes, the taxpayer who has been taking the standard deduction of 10 per cent would get a larger cut than the person who has been taking itemized deductions.

In the case cited above the $7,000-a-year taxpayer would save $131 if he itemized deductions. A taxpayer in similar circumstances who has been taking the standard deduction would save $168. He now pays $720 and his tax would go down to $582.

The similarly situated man who makes $3,000 a year pays $80 in taxes, and this would be eliminated entirely under the new tax bill. On a $4,000-a-year salary, the tax owed would go down from $240 to $140, and at the $5,000 income level, the tax would be reduced from $420 to $290.

The saving would be $258 for the taxpayer with an income of $10,000, and it would run up to $896 for the $20,000-a-year man.

The sharpest percentage cuts would be in the low income groups. On incomes of $3,000 or less, the average reduction would be 40 per cent.

Some Breaks

There would be some special tax breaks for those in certain situations—elderly taxpayers, for example, or those who have to move a long distance to take a new job.

The administration has said that the main point is not the amount of individual tax cuts, but how much over-all spending power would be generated by putting $11.1 billion into the pockets of individuals and businesses. Administration economists say the average taxpayer would spend 92-94 per cent of his tax saving and that this would provide a healthy boost to business.

By building demand for more automobiles, household appliances and other goods, the tax bill could create some three million additional jobs in the next few years, the administration contends.

4 Boston Negroes Shot In Rock 'n Roll Riot

BOSTON (AP) — Four Negro teenagers were shot and wounded early Sunday in what police described as a riot which erupted at a rock 'n' roll record hop in Boston Arena and continued on adjoining streets.

Police said the riot followed a fight in the center of the big dance floor where a Negro youth was dancing with a blonde white girl—but they did not label the incident "racial."

Sgt. William Broderick, one of the first policemen on the scene, said:

"A Negro boy was dancing with a blonde girl who was apparently his date. Some kind of a fight broke out. Somebody whipped out a gun and six shots were fired."

"The gunman, wearing a red jumper, another man wearing a white sweater and the blonde fled the building. The confusion that followed was fantastic."

Other policemen called it a "full-scale riot."

Police made no arrests immediately.

None of the three boys and one girl who suffered bullet wounds was considered in serious condition.

Witnesses said the first fight led to about five others among the crowd of 1,400, described by police as predominantly Negro.

Police said that at the height of the excitement bands of teenagers burst from the arena, fought among themselves, accosted motorists and even pulled some drivers from their cars and roughed them up on the street.

An unidentified newspaper photographer was attacked by a dozen youths as he drove to the scene on assignment.

Traffic in the St. Botolph Street area of the Back Bay was stalled for several blocks.

Several of the teenagers climbed onto autos and leaped from roof to roof with the cars jammed bumper-to-bumper.

Others tossed rocks and bottles. At least two persons other than those shot, reported injuries.

State News Roundup

Freeman To Plug Farm Policy

HARRISBURG (AP)—The U. S. Agriculture Department will bypass its state counterpart here Oct. 1 when it presents Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman at a meeting with farmers.

The USDA, through its State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, has opened up its own campaign to attract Pennsylvania farmers, and the public at large, to the Freeman meeting.

The session has been billed as an effort to sound grass roots sentiment of the nation's farmers on national farm policy.

Freeman has scheduled an 11-state tour to determine farm sentiment. The tour is a direct outcome of the rejection of the federal wheat control program by the nation's wheat growers earlier this year.

The defeat was considered a sharp rebuff to President Kennedy's farm policy.

A state ASC spokesman implied that the Pennsylvania Agriculture Department, under control of the Republican administration of Gov. Scranton, had given a chilly reception to the idea of Democrat Freeman invading Harrisburg.

People Worse Than Bears

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)—It's not the bears, it's the people that make the woods dangerous near this Centre County community, in the opinion of forest ranger Earl Casher.

It all began two weeks ago when Casher noticed some friendly black bears in his yard. He began to feed them.

The word got out that Casher had bears in his yard. People came. They fed the bears. Then more people came and they fed the bears.

But it was Casher who was getting fed up. Not with the bears, but the people.

Thursday night 200 cars showed up with people eager to feed the bears. Casher barricaded the road to his property Friday. He said he is going to try to lure the bears to another feeding place in nearby Black Moshannon swamp.

People don't like to go there, said Casher.

Sorority Accepts First Negro

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (AP)—A Waynesburg College sorority has ended its national affiliation because it wanted a Negro student as a member.

Sorority president Barbara Dissinger said her group returned its charter as the Beta Nu chapter of Beta Sigma Omicron in a dispute over the acceptance of Marilyn House of Elizabeth, near Pittsburgh.

Miss House, a sophomore, is the sorority's first Negro member. The national organization wanted the Waynesburg chapter to drop her from membership, enroll her only as a social member or return the national charter.

"The 27 members we presently have voted to return the charter," Miss Dissinger said.

The sorority has reorganized locally as Alpha Beta Nu.

Residents Oppose Blue Route Road

HARRISBURG (AP)—Some 250-300 Mainliners from suburban Philadelphia made a point with the Scranton administration Saturday in their protest over the controversial $57 million mid-county Expressway.

The angry citizens from Delaware and Montgomery counties invaded the capitol building to protest the proposed location of the road, commonly called the Blue Route.

They went home with a tentative meeting between their representatives and the governor set for Oct. 9.

The road they were protesting is to run from Chester to Conshohocken, with spurs going through the two counties. It long has been opposed by many of the local residents.

Magistrates Hit Convention Call

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Pennsylvania Magistrates Association's board of directors came out Sunday in opposition to a constitutional convention.

The board took the action after it heard a report from its solicitor, attorney Ray Pearlstone, who called the convention question "an ill-conceived move toward a state income tax."

Pennsylvania voters will be asked in November to call a convention for next year to rewrite the state's 89-year-old constitution.

The magistrates association said it favored constitutional revision by the amendment process.

Goldwater Fete Site Changed

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Republican State Committee fundraising dinner Oct. 10, featuring U. S. Sen. Barry Goldwater, has been switched from the Hershey Park Ballroom to the community stadium.

The transfer was necessary, dinner officials said Saturday, because of heavy ticket demands.

Following the $100-a-plate dinner, Goldwater will deliver his speech in the nearby Hershey Sports Arena.

The GOP expects at least 3,000 persons to be on hand for the affair, with some optimists predicting the crowd possibly may reach 5,000.

A PREVENTIVE MEASURE—Ronson company doctor Joseph Viglione is shown giving a flu shot to a Ronson employee last Friday. Ronson's 600 employees were given the opportunity of getting flu shots at the company's inoculation center. The flu shots are part of an employee health and welfare program at Ronson.

Scott Attacks Federal Aid Grants Under Kennedy

SOUDERTON, Pa. (AP)—Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., facing a campaign for reelection next year, was critical of the Kennedy administration in a speech Saturday night to the Souderton Board of Trade.

Touching on both foreign and domestic issues, Scott noted that federal grants-in-aid to state and local governments and to individuals exceeded $10 billion last year.

"This increase represents a continuing and, I believe, dangerous trend which should be of concern to every American."

"I am also disturbed by inequities of the distribution," Scott continued. "Pennsylvania received only 4.39 per cent of those funds while paying almost seven per cent of the nation's taxes."

In the field of foreign relations, the state's Republican senator was critical of W. Averell Harriman, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs. "He was the Kennedy administration's wandering ambassador until he negotiated the agreement which made a difficult situation in Laos infinitely worse. They then promoted him to assistant secretary."

Federal Road Policy Aides Historic Sites' Preservation

STROUDSBURG — At a meeting of The Historical Association of Northeastern Pennsylvania in Stroudsburg Saturday, Harry J. Higgins, a representative of the United States Bureau of Public Roads, declared that "it is Federal policy to respect and protect significant historic sites during highway construction and work closely with historical societies in carrying out this policy."

Higgins reported that historical societies have already proved helpful in protecting historic sites during the construction of the new interstate highway system and that the Bureau of Public Roads welcomes their interest and support.

"We are not historians," he said, "and we do not always recognize a significant historic site but we encourage citizens to help in protecting such sites by talking first to their local historical societies, then to the State Highway Department, and finally to the Bureau of Public Roads."

Higgins represented Rex Whitton, head of the Bureau of Public Roads, who was unable to attend.

The Association held its semi-annual meeting at the headquarters of the Monroe County Historical Society. Dr. Alfred D. Sumberg, president of the Association, presided at the business meeting.

Alan W. Perkins, director of the Wyoming Historical and Geological Society, Wilkes-Barre, was elected second vice-president to fill a vacancy.

The association voted to accept an invitation from the Wayne County Historical Society to hold its next meeting in Honsdale. The morning program was concluded by a talk by Dr. Sumberg on "Jacob Stroud: A Study in Local Biography."

At a luncheon in the faculty dining at East Stroudsburg State College, Dr. Durt Wimer, chairman of the College's social studies department, discussed "Woodrow Wilson and the League of Nations: A Case Study in Research."

Dr. Wimer told the historians of the methods he has been using in his research on President Wilson. He encouraged local historical societies to assist scholars in their search for significant materials.

5-Month Rainfall This Year Nine Inches Below Average

STROUDSBURG — Rain is always a good topic of conversation and with the downpour Friday afternoon and night why not talk about it?

For the years of 1960 through 1963 during the months of April, May, June, July, and August the total average rainfall in Stroudsburg is 20.28 inches. The average rainfall for a 20 year period during the same months is 22.15 inches. The total this year was 13.84 inches.

In 1960 the total count for the period is 29.18 inches. The largest rainfall recorded in this period was 5.59 inches during the month of April.

Rainfall for other months in the 1960 period are as follows: May, 5.40 inches; June, 4.23 inches; July, 6.59 inches, and August, 7.37 inches.

July of 1961 had the biggest amount recorded. William Hagerty, observer for the U.S. Weather Bureau, on Scott St. recorded 6.65 inches for the month.

The total count for the five month period totaled 23.76 inches. Other recordings for the period are April, 5.22 inches; May, 3.67 inches; June, 3.73 inches, and August, 4.49 inches.

In 1962 August was the high month for rainfall. Hagerty recorded 3.57 inches. The total for the same period was 14.76 inches.

Other recordings for the period were April, 3.77 inches; May, 1.90 inches; June, 2.70 inches, and July, 2.41 inches.

July turned in the high mark this year. Hagerty recorded 3.98 inches for the same period. The total rainfall for the period was 13.84 inches.

Other recordings for the five month span are April, 1.39 inches; May, 2.56 inches, and August, 2.30 inches.

The 20 year average for the months in the period is April, 3.28 inches; May, 3.84 inches; June, 4.80 inches; July, 5.15, and August, 4.68 inches.

This shows that for the month of April in 1960, 1961 and 1962 our rainfall was above the 20 year average.

In 1960 the month of May was the only period in the five month span that recorded more than the 20 year average.

For June during this period not once was the 20 year average bettered. The closest to it was in 1960.

In July of 1960 and 1961 the 20 year average was bettered twice. Also in 1960 the 20 year average was only topped once and that was in August.

Interborough Bus Starts Next Week

STROUDSBURG — The 40-Passenger bus which will inaugurate the new Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg bus service Next Monday goes to a paint shop today for a new blue and white coat.

Paul Hull, Stroudsburg manager for the Delaware Valley Transportation Co., said, "We are definitely starting Monday, Sept. 30."

The bus company agreed Sept. 12 to run a three-month trial bus service between the boroughs if community groups would guarantee to pay half the possible losses.

The Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg Businessmen's Associations were asked to back the trial run.

The Stroudsburg businessmen have indicated they will help to raise possible losses, but the East Stroudsburg businessmen have turned the idea down.

Too Many Obligations

Kenneth Alsapach, president of the East Stroudsburg Businessmen's Assn., said his groups had "too many other obligations."

He said, "We aren't in a position to subsidize anything."

His group does not have a lot of money to begin with, he said. And they are obligated to raise $400 for paint to renovate the East Stroudsburg railroad station, and are planning a Christmas lighting program.

When asked to comment on reports that members of his association felt the bus service would bring more customers to Stroudsburg than it would to East Stroudsburg, Alsapach said, "That certainly did not come from our association." He said some East Stroudsburg business might feel that way, but that no such comment was made at the last businessmen's association.

Formal Action

The Stroudsburg Businessmen's Assn. will take formal action on the loss guarantee at its next meeting Oct. 7.

But Jack Mullins, treasurer, and E. Holt Wyckoff, member of the Stroudsburg Businessmen's Assn., told the Sept. 12 meeting that they felt the group would support the bus trial and 50 per cent of its losses for three months.

At the Sept. 12 meeting organized by East Stroudsburg Councilman Kenneth Wiley, Lawrence Eick of Bath, president of the bus company, pledged to start the trial service Sept. 30.

It will run for at least six weeks and at most three months.

Hull said weekly statements of revenues and expenses would be presented to Mullins as representatives of the Stroudsburg Businessmen's Assn.

The bus company will run six round-trips between Pocono Park in Stroudsburg, the State College and the hospital in East Stroudsburg.

There will be no holiday or Sunday service. Buses will stop at street corners except at the railroad station where they will stop across from the waiting room.

STROUDSBURG — The Monroe-Pike County Committee for Constitutional Revision announced today that Milton J. Shapp will be the principal speaker at a dinner-meeting Monday, Sept. 30 at 6:15 p.m. in the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

William D. McFadden, chairman of the committee said today, "I urge anyone interested in the question of constitutional revision to attend this dinner. Milton Shapp will make one of the major addresses in this area on this question."

Shapp, recipient of many major awards for distinguished service in civic activities, is founder and board chairman of Jerrold Corporation in Philadelphia. He started the company in 1948 with an Milton J. Shapp initial investment of $500 and has guided it to its present position today.

The company employs more than 1,500 people in its five factories and research laboratory, and has a net worth of over $12 million. It is one of the leading manufacturers of TV antennas, high fidelity equipment and electronic test equipment.

Shapp has been credited by Drew Pearson, national syndicated columnist, with selling the idea of the Peace Corps to President Kennedy. Pearson wrote, "Shapp had been in Moscow on a people to people friendship program and saw how the Soviet was giving intensive training to young people in foreign languages, foreign customs and the economic problems of Africa and Asia."

Shapp returned home and immediately wrote a memo to the President relating what he had

School Legislation

Pennsylvania residents in their unhappiness over the sales tax increase by the recent legislature from four to five per cent, have generally overlooked the fact that all of the sales tax revenues are used for school purposes alone.

After raising the sales tax, the legislature proceeded to pass ten major pieces of school legislation.

In a speech to Monroe County school directors Friday night, Dr. Herbert E. Bryan of the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction in Harrisburg said the recent legislature had passed more significant school legislation than any recent legislature.

In a report to the people of Pennsylvania, Gov. Scranton said that 90 per cent of his legislative program had been passed by the Republican-controlled legislature and he asserted that "no session in the history of the Commonwealth accomplished more."

While this is political exaggeration in some fields, the governor has a right to point with pride to the major school bills passed in his first term in office.

The ten major accomplishments were:

1. Higher subsidies for local school districts totaling $85 million, with $35 million to help pay increases in state-mandated teacher salaries.

2. Higher teacher salaries. Minimum starting salaries will increase from $3,600 to $4,500 a year by 1965.

3. A constitutional amendment approved by the legislature a second time will go to the voters Nov. 5. It provides loans for college students of up to $1,000 a year.

4. A new 17-member State Board of Education, with laymen in the majority, was created. It includes a seven-member Council of Basic Education and a ten-member Council of Higher Education.

5. The controversial school reorganization act of 1961 was repealed and a new bill passed. Although a watered-down version of the 1961 bill, the new legislation is designed to reduce school districts in the state from 2,100 to 532, mainly by the consolidation of jointures.

6. State college faculty salaries were all increased. Minimum instructor salaries were raised from $4,500 to $5,000 and minimum salaries were increased. An appropriation of $1.1 million was made.

7. Almost $1 million was appropriated for a state-wide educational television network.

8. Legislation was passed to allow any school district, municipality or combination of both to set up either two-year community colleges or two-year technical colleges.

A similar bill directs county boards of school directors to prepare plans for area vocational high schools.

9. An increase in state aid to local libraries from seven cents per capita to ten cents per capita was voted. It will cost an additional $338,468.

10. About 60 per cent of total capital fund spending ($136 million) was voted for the General State Authority to build and equip new facilities for Penn State, state colleges, and state-aided institutions.

It is an impressive list. It is expensive. But the fact that the higher sales tax will be used to pay for improvements in our educational system makes it a little easier to pay.

Scranton's education program was a major accomplishment. And it was a surprising accomplishment for a first-term governor, in spite of the fact that he had a majority in both houses of the assembly.

Comment Of The Day

"The Roman Curia is not an anonymous body, insensible to the great spiritual problems, that automatically dictates laws, but a live body faithful and docile to the head of the church, a body made of grave responsibilities and functions and imbued with reverence . . .

"Therefore let the Roman Curia not be a bureaucracy as some have wrongly judged it, pretentious and apathetic, legalistic and ritualistic, a fighting ground of hidden ambitions and deaf antagonisms as others accuse it of being."

Quintuplet Politics

WASHINGTON — A lobbyist grabbed me as I entered the Capitol yesterday. He glanced furtively up and down the corridor, then whispered conspiratorially: "Go into the Senate dining room. The Senator from South Dakota is in there claiming credit for the South Dakota quintuplets!"

"There are two Senators from South Dakota," I said informally. "The senior Senator, Karl Mundt, is a Republican. The junior Senator, George McGovern, is a Democrat. Which of these non-partisan father images is grabbing kudos for the Fischer quintuplets?"

"You know the Republicans are out, and can't grab kudos for anything," said the lobbyist. "Senator McGovern is claiming credit for the five little kiddies of Aberdeen, South Dakota."

I found Senator McGovern at a table with two look-alike ladies. He waved introductions. "You know my wife, Eleanor, and her twin sister, Ella."

"I heard it was quintuplets you were touting today," I said "not mere twins."

"Twins don't mean much any more, do they?" nodded the Senator.

"I wouldn't say that," I temporized.

"He'd better not either," said Mrs. McGovern.

I was afraid this might get out of hand, so I asked Senator McGovern why he was taking bows for the five little Fischers.

"It's the fulfillment of a campaign pledge," he said. "When I was running for the Senate last year I said:

"If you elect me you'll have startling things happen in South Dakota."

The solon looked to his twin relatives for applause. They gave it—rather uncertainly, it seemed to me. Then the beam on the senatorial countenance faded.

"I just had a terrible afterthought," exploded Senator McGovern. "Supposing the father of the quintuplets turns out to be the Republican county chairman?"

The lawmaker muttered that he'd better find out. Next day I called his office to inquire what he had found.

"Fischer is not the GOP county chairman," said a senatorial aide, George Cunningham. "He has interests other than politics."

I sought the static emptiness of the Senate chamber to meditate on this. By coincidence, the other Senator from South Dakota was on the floor delivering a literary criticism of a book just put out by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Senator Mundt read aloud the title of this work. I thought at first my ears had backed, but he repeated it. The title is "Official Girlwatchers' Manual."

Senator Mundt said he had encountered trouble in obtaining the book.

"I found my intellectual foray beset with obstacles cunningly laid by the shy and reticent HEW Department," he reported. "In short, they just did not seem to want to let me see a copy."

But, said the solon, perseverance had its rewards. Delving deeply into the hard-to-get volume, he learned that official girlwatchers have divided girls into four categories—Emotionals, Unmentionables, Nocturnals, and Sociables.

The Emotionals were described as those who cry easily; the Unmentionables as girls in your past who do not mention to your wife or current date; the Nocturnals as those who fall asleep on a date; and the Sociables as well, every good to watch.

But all the book reveals, will bear watching.

Senator Mundt said that even this revelation didn't make him feel too bad until he learned that "Official Girlwatchers' Manual" was prepared—at taxpayers' expense—for the nation's school-teachers.

"This made me sick, Mr. President," the senatorial book reviewer said critically.

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

WASHINGTON—The U.S. is nearing an agreement with Communist Czechoslovakia on the settlement of "outstanding issues" now existing between the two nations.

In exchange for U.S. surplus farm commodities and increased trade, the Czechoslovak government is preparing to pay U.S. citizens approximately $11 million for properties nationalized when the Communists took over after World War II.

The proposed settlement negotiated by U.S. Ambassador Otis G. Porter is roughly 9.7 cents on the dollar. U.S. citizens have claims worth $13,645,000 on file with the Foreign Claims Settlement Commission here.

The secret package deal, a key part of a new U.S. program to increase trade and provide limited aid to Communist nations in

The Allen-Scott Report

U.S. Prepares Secret Deal With Czechoslovakia

Eastern Europe, will cost U.S. taxpayers from $30 million to $100 million in surplus farm commodities.

As in past U.S. deals negotiated with Poland and Yugoslavia, the Communist regime will pay for the surplus wheat, barley, and soybeans in its own currency, 90 per cent of which Prague will be permitted to spend on projects to improve its own economy and increase trade.

The remaining funds from the sale will be available for the State Department to pay costs of U.S. diplomatic posts in Czechoslovakia and to increase cultural and scientific exchange programs with the Communists.

The announcement of this U.S.-Czech agreement is being temporarily held up because of a disagreement between the foreign offices on how the details should be presented to the public.

State Department officials, showing concern about a possible adverse reaction in Congress, want the deal settled and announced first with the details of the sale of U.S. farm commodities and increased trade to be released later this fall.

Czechoslovak officials want the package deal neatly wrapped up in one joint announcement. By keeping the deal and aid agreements closely linked, the Prague regime can display the accord as a major political-economic victory in its new relations with the West.

The Coming Battle—As reported in this column on September 9, Hungary and Rumania will be added to the list of "trade and aid" nations after the Senate ratifies the nuclear test ban treaty and Congress acts on President Kennedy's deeply cut foreign aid budget.

Aides of President Kennedy now believe that the administration has the votes in Congress to restore the "most-favored nation" trade benefits to Poland and Yugoslavia, another part of the White House program.

These controversial trade rights, which were suspended by Congress last year, but which the President has never withdrawn, are included in the foreign aid bill now pending before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

As in the Senate debate on the nuclear test ban treaty, President Kennedy is counting on Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., to play a major role in putting over his new Communist trade program.

At the strategic moment, Senator Dirksen has agreed to throw his support behind the administration's position and call on the Senate to support the proposal providing low tariffs for both Poland and Yugoslavia.

The Opposition—The opposition's big gun against the President's Red trade program will be Representative Wilbur Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, who successfully led the fight to impose the prohibition last year.

His thinking has not changed and Mills is acting now to block the President's request that he be restored the discretionary powers to treat these Communist nations the same as our allies.

Representative Mills' view is that the U.S. should do nothing to ease the problems of these regimes or to avert the possibility that they may crumble under their own shortcomings.

He stresses privately that the administration's policy "of saving ourselves from Communism by helping Communism" is pure folly. He points out that U.S. trade and aid has strengthened the Communist regimes in Poland and Yugoslavia rather than weakened their hold on the people.

Whether Communist Dictator

Tito's visit here next month will help the President win congressional endorsement of his new Red aid program is debatable. But short of an open revolt in Congress, White House aides report that the President has set his course.

Foreign Notes—West Germany is expanding its overseas broadcasting by using relay stations strategically located in Africa. Bonn has just negotiated an agreement with the Republic of Ruanda for the erection of a "Voice of Germany" relay station there. The relay station will permit West German broadcasts from Bonn to be heard all over Africa . . . Japan is setting up a new intelligence department similar to the Central Intelligence Agency here. It will be called the "International Materials Section." Up until now Japan has relied on its embassies and consulates abroad for its overseas intelligence.

Letters To The Editor Gives Thanks For New Bus Service

Editor, The Daily Record: First, I would like to thank God for enabling us to get bus wheels rolling once more.

This is somewhat a repetition of what was said over WVPO. It is pruned for the ones that did not hear it there. Some time ago, Mrs. George Sluter of 521 N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, announced on "The People Speak" program on WVPO that bus service might be available.

We answered her, and she gave us the name of Mr. Hull, manager of the Delaware Valley Bus Co. At his suggestion, representatives were sought from both Borough Councils and all business men's groups.

Mr. Sackley, councilman from the first ward in Stroudsburg, did a fine job at lining up delegates from various business men's groups. Mr. E. Holt Wyckoff, president of Wyckoff's store amazed me with his figuring and negotiating ability; a deed so ably by Mr. Jack Mullins of the Stroudsburg Businessmen's Association. Mr. Thomas Kistler, Mayor of East Stroudsburg, and Mr. Joseph A. Lisosky of the Lions Club aided in the discussions. Naturally, without Messrs Lawrence Eliek, owner; and Paul Hull, manager of the Bus Co., nothing could have been done.

We wish to say one big thank you to everyone who helped, regardless of your name is mentioned above or not.

At this time, I would like to borrow from a tombstone epitaph. A prominent manufacturer from the past had these words engraved on his monument:

"Here lies one, who in his life was able to work with many who were smarter than he." That was the case with me on that committee.

Now that bus service will start for three months on a trial basis. It is up to us, the people, whether it continues or not. If we use it enough so that it pays, it will continue.

I would suggest that everyone that can possibly do so, leave your car home, and ride the bus to work, school, store, or anywhere that you can. Your car will last years longer, and you will save money, beside keeping the bus service going.

KENNETH WILEY Councilman East Stroudsburg

Bombings Possibly By Communists

Editor, The Daily Record:

In your editorial, "Love That Forgiveness," you attribute the Birmingham atrocity to either the lunatic fringe, White Citizens Council or Ku Klux Klan.

In the interest of truth and justice do not rule out the Communists within the desegregation movement. The FBI has not ruled out this possibility.

I am from the South but do not belong to or approve of the groups mentioned in your editorial.

There is something out of character and sinister about these bombings. It is a method that is foreign to both Negro and white in the South.

A newspaper, like an individual, should withhold conclusion until all the evidence is in.

We are enjoying our visit to your wonderful city.

It is something the whole country must return to if we are to perpetuate our heritage.

Monroe County practically have to start from scratch if it moves into the planning business. In title only has Monroe County a planning commission. Nov. 21, 1955 nine men were named to the commission. However their terms expired January 1, 1961, and one had been reappointed.

The selectees in '56 were Atty. George Robinson of Stroudsburg, Floyd DeHaven of Mt. Pocono, the late Stanley Van Vleet of Barrett Twp., Harold A. Wiggins of East Stroudsburg, Edward R. Lawton of Stroudsburg, Dr. William R. Towse of East Stroudsburg, and Amzi F. Altomese of Chestnut Hill Twp.

Planning commissions at lower levels have been operating in East Stroudsburg, Stroudsburg and Barrett. But nothing of any consequence has been focusing on the county scene since '56.

Louis Lex Jr., chief of the planning division, Bureau of Community Development, State Department of Commerce, penned a letter to The Daily Record listing the responsibilities of a county commission.

The point Lex brings out is the "first and second stage" education format through funds under the 701 Urban Planning Assistance Program through application to the State Bureau of Community Development.

Recently Jim Hertz invaded the Poconos and told men interested in planning what the state has to offer in the way of funds that come from the federal government.

At the roundtable discussion were Atty. Alex (Buzz) Bensinger, president of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce; Atty. Charles (Chud) Bensinger, president of the Water Resources Association of the Delaware River Basin (leading supporters for the $177 million Tocks Island proposal); Atty. Elmer Christine, counselor for Monroe County's Redevelopment Authority who is also a leading figure in the East Stroudsburg Urban Renewal Project; and Dressler, executive director of the WRA—DRB.

These men, after meeting Hertz, know where to get the money to push planning toward reality. But Monroe has to set up a new planning commission to turn the wheels for the two-thirds federal payment and one-third county support. Then subdivision regulations may be adopted to apply uniformly in all townships in the county.

To say the least, it is a complex system. It must have the full support of every political subdivision in the county to run smoothly. Maybe you could say harmony must prevail at all levies to make it work for the benefit of all.

The county planning commission is the key to the whole project. It prepares a comprehensive plan for the physical development through federal financing.

Lex says: "It has generally been construed that county subdivision regulations don't apply in boroughs or cities even though regulations may not have been adopted in the cities or boroughs."

"This interpretation, in effect, limits the scope of a county subdivision regulation to townships which have not adopted their own regulations. However, after townships adopt their own regulations the county regulations are superseded."

Planning is no easy matter. Criticism may come from any angle, sometimes rightfully so. But to those who are worried that it will get off the ground real soon, let us say it will be awhile. First a new planning commission has to be reactivated. Secondly, this probably will not occur until after the first of the year when the new winners or incumbents take over county commissioner terms.

And thirdly, there still is no concrete evidence at the present moment that it ever will happen.

The Pennsylvania Story

HARRISBURG — Did Governor Scranton fall down on the job of "leading" his party over the rocks and shoals of the somewhat politically-scrambled 1963 legislative session recently ended?

Opinion on this score on Capitol Hill is divided. There are those Republican lawmakers who complain over the failure of Mr. Scranton to take a more active part in pushing administration legislative programs.

Whether their attitude is justified is moot and unquestionably open to endless debate. When compared with one of his more recent Democratic contemporaries — Governor Leader (1955-59) who preceded Governor Lawrence — Mr. Scranton undeniably has been on the limp end of the whip insofar as any bombastic all-out effort is concerned.

However former Governor Leader was somewhat of an exception in a long line of Pennsylvania chief executives. His tenure was a tempestuous affair from beginning to end — and a balking legislative branch at the time only added fuel to the fire. The Scranton-Leader tenures illustrate two opposites.

In comparison with Mr. Leader, or the activity front — Governor Scranton most certainly "fell down" on the job insofar as serving as a vibrant, open spoken, hard driving, table thumping, chest pounding, rafter-shattering leader is concerned in behalf of his legislative programs!

But — there is question as to whether Mr. Scranton or Mrs. Leader was right in their approach, their strategy, their methods.

Pennsylvania's present Governor early assumed the attitude that the legislative and executive branches undeniably are two separate branches (as spelled out quite clearly in the State Constitution) and that it is not up to him to attempt to "dictate" what the legislative branch shall or shall not do.

Finally — as Mr. Leader discovered somewhat belatedly — it is the legislative branch that cracks the whip, fiscally or otherwise, not the executive branch.

Mr. Scranton has yet to really "clobber" the legislative branch, even though it is close to being politically split, a status destined to continue through the 1964 budget session. Unquestionably he has tried to assume the role of one who makes his recommendations — and thereafter it's up to the Legislature.

Has he actually fallen down on the chore of legislative saber-rattling? The answer is largely academic — and most certainly one dependent upon philosophical viewpoints.

Actually Mr. Scranton by nature isn't the kind who goes about clanking and rattling sabers (he'd probably get the saber tangled between his legs if he tried).

The past session, and for that matter the two preceding it, have been comparatively tame affairs. So far he has refrained one might say, admirably, from bouncing rocks off legislative skulls in a fret, pother and froth as some of his predecessors have managed.

Insofar as anti-administration forces are concerned — in this case legislative Democrats — the feeling persists that he has been "most kind" in refraining from going into rages, castigating and denouncing the donkey riders.

It is true he has raised his voice and jowls in this direction on two or three occasions, but nothing that produced any great consumption of headache pills or aspirins among the Democratic brethren.

The key, when campaign time rolls around, particularly the legislative or congressional how-down next year, Mr. Scranton is expected to really thump the kettle drums. It's been quiet so far but 1964 is just around the corner.

About Town

Discount This One:

A man and his wife were out walking when they found a water bill on the sidewalk. Said he: "I'm going to pay this bill."

"What do you want to do that for?" she inquired. "It isn't yours."

"No," he replied, "but there's 10 percent discount on it and I might as well have it as anybody else."

From the Rotarian:

A janitor in a big city bank was sweeping the floor after hours when a telephone rang on an inner desk. He took the number and said, "Hello," whereupon an excited voice demanded, "I want to know what the Federal Reserve Bank discount rate is, what the prime-paper rate is, and if all this foreign traveling is going to upset our currency."

"Mr.," said the confused janitor, "I told you all I know about the banking business when I said 'hello.'"

Talking It Up:

In the supermarket a man was pushing a cart which contained a screaming, yelling, bellowing baby. The gentleman kept repeating softly such admonitions as, "Don't get excited, Albert. Don't scream Albert. Don't yell, Albert." A woman standing next to him said, "You certainly are to be commended for trying to soothe your son Albert." The man looked at her and then said quite soberly, "Lady, I am Albert."

Dear Abby

The Listening Post!

DEAR ABBY: My husband talks in his sleep. He says things as plain as day, such as, "Why do you always take me to these dumps, Honey?" I have never taken him to any kind of "dump."

And, "Tell Eli to keep his hands off you or I'll fix him." (I don't even know an "Eli.") When I wake him up and ask him what he is talking about, he tells me that a man is not responsible for what he says in his sleep. Do you think he is stepping out on me?

"LISTENING"

DEAR "LISTENING": Keep listening.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old Boy Scout. My Scoutmaster, who is almost 30, tells us to call him by his first name, Joe, (not his real name) because he feels old when someone calls him Mr. Jones (not his real last name, either). My father insists that I call him Mr. Jones out of respect for my elders. All the other boys call him Joe and their parents don't seem to mind. In any case, it's a grave mistake to expect others to do what we would do in like circumstances.

When we came out of the store I found an over-parking ticket on my car. While driving this friend home she expressed regret over my bad luck that day, but she didn't offer to help me pay for the broken item or the parking ticket. The total involved was only $4.50. It would relieve me greatly to tell her how I feel. Would you? Or am I wrong?

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: I wouldn't mention it to her. She is thoughtful, insensitive or both. (Maybe she's just cheap!) In any case, it's a grave mistake to expect others to do what we would do in like circumstances.

Speaking Of Your Health:

Cystic Fibrosis -- New Challenge

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

CYSTIC fibrosis is a disease that only recently has been brought to the attention of the American people. Physicians have been baffled for many years by this strange condition that affects the pancreas, the lungs and the sweat glands.

This odd triad produces symptoms that appear early in infancy and is considered to be an inherited condition. When both parents have this rare genetic tendency, there is a possibility that the child may be born with cystic fibrosis of the pancreas.

Some Symptoms

Marked malnutrition, repeated, respiratory infections and a delicate susceptibility to heat prostration are some of the symptoms that characterize this peculiar, and often tragic, condition. Because the disease involves the pancreas, many digestive and intestinal problems arise soon after birth.

When the perspiration of the child shows a high concentration of salt by chemical analysis, and when there is a marked deficiency of

Life As A Little Girl Was Lots Of Fun

(Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of 14 articles by a longtime resident of the Stroudsburgs.)

By GERTRUDE V. BURLINGAME HERSHEY

Many times around supper time I was sent to Hufford's or William's store and it just seemed as if those Staples boys knew when I was going, as they were always there to chase and tease me.

The Beville family lived in back of us and I can see Old Lady Beville milking the cow and singing away. Many a summer evening we sat around and listened to them singing. The Beville boys had the local taxi service at one time.

I used to have to get my hair cut, so I would put on my skates and away I would go to "Spider" Kishpaugh's barber shop. He noticed I had a wart on my wrist, so he said he would take it off if I wanted him to. So he took what we called then a violet ray machine. It was a glass tube with a knob of glass blown on the end.

He took this attachment off and placed an ordinary lead pencil in the connection, placed vaseline on and around the wart, turned the electric on and a few sparks came from the lead pencil which he let come in contact with the wart a few times and that was that. A few days later, the wart dropped off and it never came back. I never see "Spider" but what I think of that.

After getting my hair cut, I used to go next door to Crystal's store and buy some penny candy. Kishpaugh's barbershop and Crystal's store stood where the south side of the Hughes Printing Co. now is.

Fun On Typewriter

Of course, the local paper print shop was located there, too, and an eye doctor, I believe Dr. Travis, was located in that block. My father worked for Hughes for 49 years and when he first worked there, he often took me into the office to wait for him while he attended to something in the print shop and Mr. George C. Hughes would put a sheet of paper in the typewriter and let me type to my heart's content.

Hughes would put a sheet of paper in the typewriter and let me type to my heart's content.

We were members of the East Stroudsburg First Baptist Church and many times the church held leight riding parties and my mother would bundle us up and she always heated a couple of bricks to keep our feet warm.

The sleigh ride was usually held by the Anti-Cant's Society and they were always holding suppers in the church — strawberry festivals and bazaars — and putting on all sorts of plays.

When we were baptized, we wore white dresses. Under the pulpit there was a big tank filled with water and one by one we were bent back under the water and baptized. After that I really felt I belonged to the house of God.

Our whole family was very active in that church. We very seldom missed a Sunday School or church and evening services, too, as my mother and father both sang in the choir. In later years, my sister and I both taught Sunday School classes and my sister played the piano for Sunday School and the organ for the church services and for choir practice for many years.

My father was the one who started the thing going for their parsonage and I can remember, too, when he started things humming so they could have an organ in their church.

The New Organ

It was a beautiful organ and many a time I had to pump it so my sister could play, as the regular pumper was sick or something. One time when I was younger, our parents were having choir practice at the church and, of course, there were a lot of other children there, too, so we all went up in the balcony of the church and rang the church bell. When we got home that night, we sure got a good spanking and I know we never rang the bell again, only when we were asked to.

We always attended prayer meeting, too, and that was every Wednesday night. My mother often relates about the time the church was having a church supper and she was helping in the kitchen to prepare the food and one of the ladies lighted the gas oven and when she did, it exploded and her hair caught fire. My mother had her hands in the dish pan at the time, so she took her wet hands and put out the fire before anyone was hurt real bad.

Before I forget it, my father just dropped in and he told me the old Hughes Printing Co. was located where the East Stroudsburg Building and Loan is today. He said the name of the local paper was then the Jeffersonian and later was called the East Stroudsburg Press and Jeffersonian. Then when they moved to the N. Courtland building, they named it the Morning Press. I forgot to say the East Stroudsburg Post Office was also located where the Hughes have part of their plant now.

Ticklish Situation: The Mustache Returns

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

New York (AP) — Wives may be faced with a ticklish situation soon. The mustache — big and bushy — is on its way back.

Members of the barbers' unions as well as representatives of the trade press say it has been a gradual growing style for the past year, and indeed it may be a compromise between the beard enthusiasts and the clean shaven clans.

Most vocal about the hairy lip is a former British barber whose name is coincidentally Harry (Kaye). Harry witnessed a similar trend toward the fringe on top of the lip when he was barbering in England a dozen years ago.

"It started with a trend towards Edwardian clothes then. At first a few people sneered at the mustache, but eventually it became the rage."

The clue that American males are following is the same bristly path across the lip is the growing interest in all things Victorian, says Harry. He cites the increasing number of Victorian-decorated restaurants, and men's clothes slim trousers, colorful jackets and striped shirts.

The inclination is understandably contradictory to the current emphasis on youth. A mustache invariably adds years to a man's appearance. Young men don't care, of course. The very young ones can't wait to prove they can grow a bumper crop of bristles. And maybe by the time men get to be middle-aged, they get too attached to part with them.

Out of style is the thin, misplaced eyebrow mustache. The more profuse the fringe on the upper lip the better, Harry says. Blondes are less successful at cultivating them than brunet men. They are the most likely to produce troublesome and unattractively scraggly ones.

Although the mustache design must complement the general facial characteristics of the wearer, the most popular mustache today is military — looking with waxed ends.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Monday September 23
March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—This should be a stimulating day, but there are two admonitions: Don't take on more than you can handle; manage and don't fear failure. Stress personal dignity, quality.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—How you go about everyday matters will be the deciding point for or against high-type attainment now. Luck must not be hurried over; hours not too heavily crowded.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Set a few rules to go by before you begin your day. It will save time and energy. Brighten routine with artistic touches; put loose ends together; be in with successful folks.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Better-than-average influences. Co-operate promptly, actually, nothing of value slip through your fingers. Come forward with a revised plan or a new idea.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—You, like Cancer, like more propitious aspects than many. But whether you use your talents smartly and close up loopholes through which advantages could slip is YOUR answer.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Slow down to gather forces more compactly; to display abilities more clearly. In discussions, bear all sides and take a vote on procedure. Don't deviate from pre-planned activities for no wise reason.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Avoid hasty judgment; weigh matters closely. There may be values not seen at a cursory glance. This is a good period for making improvements along all lines.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Little hints are your best clues to procedure now. Look deep for them and for all the time you need man gather to help you over the few hurdles to a BIG day's gain.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—A strongly aspected Jupiter says "go." But of course, be certain where, and why! With the best use of your mentality, inspired plans and endurance you can accomplish much for today—and the future.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)—Hold on to what has proved its worth in the past while you also watch for and seek new opportunities to advance. Gravitate to what you do best, but shirk no duties because they are tiring and thankless.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)—This day presents a few colorless, monotonous spots but you can easily brighten them with much verse and stimulating novelty. Avoid the banal, however.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—Never let it be said you did not try your utmost, for that would be against one of Pisces' cardinal traits. Get out the old devices and a rusty talent or two that worked before. YOU HOPE TODAY are endowed with discrimination for the finer things of life and wholehearted determination to succeed. You can become a good talker, usually punctuating conversation with interesting anecdotes. Shun giving too much attention to trivial things, thus seeming overly critical. While resourceful and shrewd, you are also generous and attentive to those close to you. You have poetic ability, appreciation for art, stagecraft, manual skills, in any of which you could find an enjoyable hobby. If not a regular occupation, Birthdate: Augustus, Roman emperor.

Information On Gifts

By William A. Doyle

Q. You have mentioned that laws have been passed, in all 50 states and the District of Columbia making it relatively simple for people to make gifts of stocks to children. I would like to obtain more information on these "gifts to minors laws."

Where can I get the details? Surely, there must be some pamphlets and such on this subject, which should be of vital interest to many people?

A. You're right on two counts. My mailbox shows ever-increasing interest in this. At this time of year it might be said that people want the information in preparation for the Christmas gift season. But it would probably be more realistic to say that people are becoming more aware of tax situations and want information that may help them.

And there have been a number of things written on this subject. The best I have seen is a booklet called "Gifts of Securities and Money to Minors." It's a guide that gives a good rundown on the rules on this in all states.

You should be able to get a copy of it or some similar pamphlet from almost any brokerage firm.

If you can't, then write to the Assn. of Stock Exchange Firms, 120 Broadway, New York 5, N.Y. Enclose 25 cents and ask for the booklet named above. As always, when this column notes the availability of something such as this, arrangements have been made so that readers' requests will be filled and their names and addresses will not be disclosed. You won't have to worry about ending up on somebody's "mailing list."

Q. For the past four years I have been investing each month in shares of Investors Variable Payment Fund, a mutual fund managed by Investors Diversified Services. This is supposed to be a "growth" fund. My objective is to build up a retirement nest egg.

To date, the dividends have been small, as I expected. But the growth has been nil. What is your opinion of this?

A. I would like to have your definition of "nil." My dictionary defines it as "nothing." You certainly can't say the Investors Variable Payment Fund has done "nothing." It has shown wide changes in value—up, down and up again. Let's look at the record. That mutual fund was organized in 1937. At the end of that year its asset value per share (the actual dollars and cents value behind each share) was $3.86. It's per share value got as high as $7.84 late in 1961, when the stock market was flying sky high. It dropped as low as $5.03, after the stock market cracked wide open in May, 1962. Lately, it has climbed back, well over the $7 mark—$7.20 as this goes through the typewriter. It's not as high as it was late in 1961 and early in 1962. But, except for that period, it is higher than it ever was at any time in its history.

Let's not overlook the fact that lots of mutual funds (and many, many more individual stocks) are still below their 1961 "bull market" peaks.

Investors Variable Payment Fund's record is a good one. Your letter indicates that you went into this as a long-term investment. Unless you were expecting too much, too soon, it's mighty hard to find a reason for you to be unhappy.

(Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.)

Royals Win Two In Row

ROSETO — The Royals of Pius X yesterday made it two in a row as they handed visiting Marian Catholic a 12-6 thumping before a hometown crowd. One more win will tie their record of three triumphs of last season.

Once again, it was the steady and powerful running of fullback Steve Zegalia who paved the way for the victory. He tallied both touchdowns in this contest, boosting his total to four for the season. He scored both TD's in the opener at Bristol when the Royals won, 13-6.

Four Touchdowns
Pius X has totaled four TD's this season — and credit for all of them belongs to Steve — a barreling 5-foot-10, 185 pound junior.

The Royals scored following the opening kickoff as Jim Detzi returned to the Pius X 35 and brought the ball across the goal line in 17 plays.

Zegalia, the workhorse of the team, carried on eight of the plays, the final one on a smash through the line from the 1. Steve totaled 44 yards in his eight carries in that drive.

Marian knotted the count at 6-6 in the third period which followed the opening second-half kickoff by Pius.

West End Edges S-Burg

STROUDSBURG — West End erupted for four runs in the top of the eighth inning yesterday at Gordon Giffels Field to nudge Stroudsburg, 6-5, in a Pocono Mountain Baseball League championship playoffs which tied the best 2-of-3 series at 1-1.

The teams will meet for the final game next Sunday at West End.

The A's tallied three runs in the second and held the lead until the finished eighth. West End, which finished in first place during regular season play, pushed across a run in the fifth and made it 3-2 in the seventh with another marker.

But Stroudsburg rallied for a pair of markers in the bottom of the seventh to go in front, 5-2, before the explosive eighth.

Denny Lakatos, second relief pitcher for the Gilbert nine, was credited with the win. Carl Motts, the second reliever for Stroudsburg, was charged with the loss.

Stroudsburg outthit the visitors in their bid to clinch the title series by an 11-9 margin. Hartley Paffenroth and Clausen each smacked three hits for the losers. Denny Lakatos and Dick Schaller each had two safeties for the winners.

Patriots Top Raiders, 20-14

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—A rugged Boston Patriot defense pressured Oakland Raiders all afternoon Sunday as they defeated the Raiders, 20-14.

The Patriots built a 17-0 half-time lead, got a field goal in the third quarter and held off in the face of a 14-point Raider fourth-quarter rally. It was the second Patriot victory in three starts.

Reserve Raider quarterback Tom Flores threw both Oakland touchdowns, hitting Art Powell in the end zone from 33 yards out and Bo Robertson on a 52-yard score.

Tickets On Sale For ESSC Game

EAST STROUDSBURG — More than 400 reserve seat tickets for the East Stroudsburg State College-West Chester football game will be placed on sale today at the ESSC gymnasium between 1 to 5 p.m., athletic director John Emler announced last night.

The game will be played Saturday night at East Stroudsburg High School.

General admission seat tickets also will be placed on sale.

Football Conference opener for both clubs.

Long Run

Taking over on their own 30, the visitors rattled off but six plays in the 70-yard march, highlighted by a 40-yard scamper around right end by halfback Bob Bonner who raced into pay dirt untouched.

The Royals bounced back in the same session, however, as they received the ensuing kickoff, took possession on their own 45 after a poor Marian kick which slid off the side of the booter's shoe, and stayed entirely on the ground for 11 plays to score the clincher.

Longest gain of that drive was a 15-yarder by Detzi. John Raceto logged the leather for an 8-yard gain to the Marian 16, and Zegalia put on a one-man performance from there, carrying the ball four straight times, smashing his way into pay dirt on the final carry from the 2. He picked up 27 yards in that scoring march.

Finale Average
Altogether, Steve picked up a total of 137 yards in 28 carries for an average of nearly five yards per try. He personally picked up more than half of the team's total rushing yardage of 228 yards.

Zegalia's two-game point production now stands at 25 points (four touchdowns and one conversion) which is precisely the same number of points the team has scored in its two outings. His total rushing yardage for both contests stands at 264 yards.

The Royals tried but two pass plays in the game, completing one for six yards. Marian, on the other hand, was rather futile against the Pius defense — gaining but 124 yards on the ground, and completing but four of eight aerials for 60 yards.

Brown Paces Browns

DALLAS (AP)—Jimmy Brown ran for 232 yards, including touchdown dashes of 71 and 62 yards, and Frank Ryan passed for two touchdowns while scoring one Sunday as the Cleveland Browns smashed the Dallas Cowboys 41-24.

Brown was getting revenge for his worst showing yet — his 29 yards against Dallas last year when the Cowboys beat the Browns.

A crowd of 28,710 watched Brown run over and around the Cowboys and Ryan pick the Dallas pass defense to pieces. Ryan passed 17 yards and six yards to Gary Collins for scores and when he couldn't make it throwing he ran seven yards for another.

The great Lou Groza, pro football's mightiest scorer, kicked field goals of 32 and 15 yards and booted four extra points for a total of 10 points for the day.

Don Perkins was the big man in the Dallas offense. He scored two touchdowns and gained 96 yards on 22 carries.

Chiefs, Bills Tie: 27-27

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Len Dawson unleashed a devastating second-half aerial attack Sunday and enabled the Kansas City Chiefs to tie the Buffalo Bills, 27-27.

Buffalo lost its first two games to San Diego and to Oakland.

Stop Susquehanna Skein; Penn State: New Offense

Susquehanna, with the longest unbeaten string in the nation, was upset; Pitt threw 28 passes, most for a Panther team in nine years; Penn State unveiled a brand new offense; Villanova came up with another rock-ribbed defense.

These were the highlights of Pennsylvania's first college football weekend of 1963, and the big question is, if this is only the beginning, what are the kids going to do for the future?

Susquehanna, expected to field another powerhouse, was beaten 34-12 by a surprising Upsala team. It was the first defeat in 23 games for Susquehanna, which had won 11 straight and had only a tie in 1961 marring the previous 22 games. Ironically, the last team to defeat Susquehanna was Upsala, 8-7 in 1960. The Pennsylvania college trailed 17-0 at halftime and never was in the game.

Last winter, the head of the University of Pittsburgh, disappointed by Panther football teams of recent vintage, told coach John Michelosen he wanted the team to play a more wide open game or else. Michelosen apparently read the or else as his job, so Friday night Pitt threw 28 passes, completed 16 for 227 yards, and trounced UCLA, 20-0. What's that they say about eggheads?

Villanova met West Chester in a bitter neighborhood rivalry and only a solid defense saved it from embarrassment. Villanova won 21-9, but managed only one sustained drive. Its defense, was magnificent. West Chester, trailing 6-3, had a first down at the Villanova

2, but the winners held for downs. Two intercepted passes led to a pair of Villanova touchdowns, while Tom Gray booted a 43-yard field goal to give West Chester a short lived 3-0 lead in the first period.

New Formation
Penn State, supposedly in a rebuilding year, came up with a "swing-T" formation, featuring a Z-back split 15-yards either right or left. It helped the Nittany Lions upset favored Oregon, 17-7.

On the Middle Atlantic Conference front, Bucknell, sparked by halfback Bob Laughton's running and a key fumble recovery by guard Ron Lodeski, scored two quick touchdowns in the final quarter to come from behind and defeat Gettysburg, 19-7. Temple, apparently short on defense, zipped to a 30-21 win over Ithaca on the wings of coach George Makris' new pro style offense. Halfback Joe Morelli carried the ball 18 times for 104 of Temple's 262 yards gained on the ground.

Tied 7-7 into the fourth period, defense minded Lycoming scored on a 21-yard pass from quarterback Mike Cohen to halfback John Hair to beat Albright, 13-7. Carnegie Tech lost a high-scoring duel to Ohio Wesleyan, 13-0, and Waynesburg scored twice and then stood off Geneva challenges for a 12-6 triumph.

Rams Tie
In state college competition: Slippery Rock, featuring a ground game that netted 312 yards and Delaware State, passing for 199 yards, battled to a 19-19 stalemate. Edinboro smashed Grove City, 27-7. Kutztown surprised Southern Connecticut, 14-0. Mansfield scored twice in the last half to edge Kings, 13-0. Defensive halfback Pete Archibald returned a punt 82 yards and a pass interception 46 yards for TDs in leading Indiana to a 29-21 win over Shippensburg.

Clarion State made new Coach Al Jack's debut a pleasant one with a 34-0 romp over Brockport. California State ripped Marietta 44-21 with halfback Frank Johnson scoring five touchdowns. Lock Haven marched 84 yards for a final period TD that beat Bloomsburg, 21-14, and Millersville bowled to Randolph-Macon, 6-0.

A stout Steelers defense throttled virtually every move by quarterback Ralph Gugliemi, holding the Giants to only two first downs in the first half.

Jets Upset Oilers In Home Debut

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Jets upset the Houston Oilers in their home debut at the Polo Grounds Sunday 24-17 with Mark Snodgrass, a former Baltimore Colt, scoring the winning touchdown on a 4-yard burst after a pass interference call against the Oilers.

An interference call against Tony Banfield on a pass by Dick Wood intended for Don Maynard gave the Jets the ball on Houston's 4 midway in the final period. Snodgrass drove up the middle on the next play.

When Houston threatened in the final minutes, linebacker Jim Pryce intercepted a George Bland pass to give the Jets possession.

Houston 7 0 10 0-17
New York 7 7 0 10-24

Bears Romp

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP)—Chicago's suffocating defense set up four scoring opportunities and the Bears' offense, triggered by the accurate passing of Bill Wade, cashed them all to crush Minnesota's Vikings 28-7 Sunday.

Wade fired touchdown passes of 24, 35 and 10 yards, two of them scored the other Chicago touchdown himself on a one-yard plunge.

Requiem For Chinese Bandits

Anchors Aweigh At Navy; Air Force Is Flying High

It's anchors aweigh at Navy, off into the wild blue yonder at the Air Force Academy and no requiem for the Chinese Bandits at Army as college football moves from the first to the second week of its whirlwind 10-week campaign.

Also, add once little and obscure Memphis State to the roll call of the big time—its ticket a bruising scoreless tie with Mississippi, unbeaten last year and rated the second best in the country.

While Southern California, Alabama, Oklahoma, Northwestern and other pre-season favorites—Ole Miss an exception—were passing first tests creditably, it remained for the three service academies to hog most of the dramatics of the opening program Saturday.

Navy Impressive

Ninth-ranked Navy scored the most impressive victory—a 51-7 rout of massive West Virginia behind the incredible passing of quarterback Roger Staubach. The Air Force fashioned one of the day's biggest surprises, a 10-7 triumph over 10th-ranked Washington with an exciting last-gasp 91-yard drive that thrilled a national television audience. Army, forced to discard its famous three-plateau system under the new substitution rule, smarted Boston University 30-0.

The colleges moved into the new rule, limiting mass substitution while the clock is running, with hardly a squeak or a squawk. Coach Paul Dietzel of Army, who popularized the three-plateau system at Louisiana State, merely sprinkled members of his famed defensive unit among the first and second two-way squads.

Coach Darrell Royal of Texas, whose fifth-ranked Longhorns shut out Tulane 21-0 Friday night, said he liked the rule. "It forces players to play both offense and defense," he said.

The opening games re-emphasized the importance of a good quarterback and a capable field goal kicker, both influences of the popular pro game. The old punt-and-prayer style of football appears to be going out of style.

Staubach, the boy who smothered Army in the 1962 Army-Navy game, completed 17 of 22 passes and accounted for 171 aerial yards in riddling a 200-pound-plus average Mountaineer team that figured to hold Navy to at least a touchdown edge.

It was quarterback Terry Isaacson who got the Air Force rolling in the fading minutes for the touchdown that whipped the Washington Huskies at Colorado Springs. He hit for seven of eight passes and ran over for the winning touchdown from the seven.

A Disappointment
Southern California, picked in the pre-season Associated Press poll to repeat as national champion, wasn't overly impressive in beating Colorado 14-0 for its 12th victory in a row. Pete Beathard, hitting on only five of his 16 passes, scored both touchdowns.

Third-ranked Alabama, led by Joe Namath and Mike Fracchia, crushed Georgia 32-7 in the anniversary of the game that a year ago provoked charges of a fix and multi-million-dollar libel suits against the national magazine which made the accusations.

Sooners Win

Oklahoma, No. 4, pointing to its game next Saturday with Southern California, gave away two touchdowns but steadied for a 31-14 triumph over Clemson, Northwestern, No. 6, beat Missouri 23-12 on quarterback Tom Myers' effective passing, and Wisconsin, No. 7, the Big Ten Conference defender, ran over Western Michigan 41-0. Arkansas, No. 3, whipped Oklahoma State 21-0. Ohio State, tied with Washington in the pre-season poll, was idle, opening with Texas A&M next Saturday.

Memphis State

Memphis State, bidding for big time recognition under Billy (Spook) Murphy, a Mississippi State grad, stunned Mississippi with its tenuous defensive display. It was the first time Ole Miss had been shut out since 1958 and it was Memphis State's first victory in the series after 13 straight shellackings.

Likes Rule

Some important information for every man who will need a new truck within the next 12 months

New Chevrolets are a lot more truck than your money bought the last time. Here are some of the things that have been done to give you more value for practically the same investment.

Double-wall construction. This feature of Chevrolet cabs and the Fleetside pickup body has two advantages. Insulation and sound-deadening material is sandwiched between the two layers of steel in the cab to give you more comfort; in the body, the inner wall acts as a buffer against load damage, preserving the outer appearance of the truck.

Suspension to fit the truck. You get a much better ride in every size Chevrolet truck today than you used to.

Conventional half- and three-quarter-ton models have independent front suspension with variable pitch coils in the rear. Variable pitch coils do not "bottom out" as readily.

Mediums and heavies have I-beam suspension with variable-rate leaf springs. This variable-rate leaf-type suspension automatically stiffens as the load increases—and vice versa. It means a smoother, flatter ride regardless of load, a better handling truck.

The right engine. Chevrolet has been building truck engines since 1918 but never has it been in better position to give you the type and size you need for maximum efficiency. Today there are many different capacities of gasoline and diesel Chevrolet truck engines—four, six, V8's.

Stronger frames. Every conventional 1964 Chevrolet truck has a ladder-type frame. Formerly used on heavier trucks only, this type is more resilient, better able to give with the load and terrain, to stand up under stress. Its simple design also makes it easier to mount special bodies on the truck. Its riveted side rails are stronger.

Greater model selection. This time you're going to find it a simple matter to pick the exact type of Chevrolet truck for the kind of work you do. In delivery trucks, for instance, in addition to regular panels and pickups, we have eleven different sizes of ready-made walk-in vans, some with full-width rear doors.

There are also the Corvair 95 vans with the air-cooled engine in the rear. And the Corvair 95 Rampside with its exclusive side-loading feature. These trucks have more power this year.

In the medium- and heavy-duty area there are stakes, tilt cabs, low-cab-forward models and cab-and-chassis units to suit almost any requirement—including school bus bodies of up to 6

President Due Tomorrow For Dedication At Milford

MILFORD— This community put the finishing touches on the sprucing-up operation that has been in progress for the visit of President John F. Kennedy. Shuttle buses will operate tomorrow afternoon.

Between parking lots in Milford Borough and Grey Towers, the former Pinchot estate, which the President will dedicate during his visit as the Pinchot Institute for Conservation Studies.

An information center has also been set up in Forest Hall, on Milford's main street, and will distribute brochures welcoming visitors to the area, as well as giving some of the background of the dedication. The center is operated by members of the Milford Garden Club, under the auspices of the Pike County Chamber of Commerce and the Hawley-Lake Wallenpaupack Chamber of Commerce.

Conservation leaders from all over the country will gather at the Grey Towers building tomorrow. The public is invited. Forest Service officials pointed out. While there will be limited seating facilities, there will be ample room for all who come to the dedication. An extensive public address system has been installed.

Parking facilities in the area of the dedication are limited, and those attending are urged to park their cars in areas in Milford Borough and use the shuttle buses to get to Grey Towers.

Arrives At 1 P.M.

President Kennedy is scheduled to arrive for the dedication at approximately 1 p.m. by helicopter from Stewart Air Force Base at Newburgh, N. Y. He will land on the estate, where he will be welcomed by Governor William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania.

The dedication ceremony, with U. S. Chief Edward P. Cliff of the Forest Service presiding, will begin with remarks by Gov. Scranton; Samuel H. Ardway, Jr., president of the Conservation Foundation of New York, a component sponsor of the new conservation center; Dr. Gifford Pinchot, son of Gifford Pinchot, and Secretary of Agriculture Orville R. Freeman, who will introduce the President.

Following President Kennedy's address, he will make a tour of the grounds and Grey Towers itself. During the tour, the President will be informally presented with three gifts — a Dorflinger glass goblet, an oil painting of Mrs. Kennedy, and a replica of the award the community won last year in the Pennsylvania Community Development Contest. These will be gifts from the people of the area.

The Dorflinger goblet, a product of the famous glassworks in adjoining Wayne County, is a piece of engraved glass of the finest quality lead crystal, hand-blown in 1917 by craftsmen at the Dorflinger plant.

Its shape is in the old Waterford style, engraved with a Spanish galleon and surrounded by a design of the Italian Renaissance period, the detail of which is very intricate. It is the work of Herman J. Neugebauer, an Austrian-born "copper wheel" engraver, an expert in his field, and valued at $1,500.

Famous Collection

The goblet will join many other pieces of this engraver's work in the White House, 170 pieces having been made by Neugebauer for President Woodrow Wilson in 1917—an addition to the 144 pieces made for Grover Cleveland in 1886. Five hundred and twenty pieces of the same set were made for President Benjamin Harrison and much more was added to the set for President Theodore Roosevelt. This is the largest service of one design in the White House.

The goblet will be on display in Grey Towers tomorrow, along with the other gifts. Grey Towers will be open for a limited tour by the public after the departure of President Kennedy.

GIFTS FOR JFK—Mrs. Edith Gregory of Milford, a member of the committee on arrangements for the visit of President Kennedy tomorrow, admires two of the gifts which will be presented. A Dorflinger goblet, at left, will add to the present White House collection, and the portrait of Mrs. Kennedy, made by a local artist, will be a personal gift. (Staff Photo by Cusack)

Whirlwind Week Planned For Miss Poconos Entrants

A three-day whirl of activities has been arranged for the contestants in the Miss Pocono Mountain and Junior Miss Pocono Mountain pageants.

Thursday, Miss Pocono Mountain contestants will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Martens at Mount Airy Lodge for a swim party and dinner. At the same time, the Junior Miss contestants will be the guests of Mrs. Hedwig Linder at Hillside Lodge, Canadensis, for a swim party and dinner.

The Junior Miss Pocono Mountains queen will be guest of honor on a day's tour of the Poconos on Saturday with all of the Miss Pocono Mountains contestants accompanying her.

The tour will begin at The Inn, Buck Hill Falls, at 9:30 a.m. with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Gillam and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Edgerton hosting the girls and their escorts at an informal "kaffeeklatch" before a tour of Buck Hill Falls.

A motorcade with members of the Barre Junior Women's Club, will arrive at Pocono Ice-A-Rama where host Charles Paolillo has arranged an ice skating exhibition by Mrs. Ann Magama.

Following the luncheon, the motorcade will travel to Mount Pocono where Chief of Police Kenneth Miller and Mayor Gerald Possinger will meet it and escort it through the borough limits.

On arrival in Barrett Township, Chief of Police Harry Campbell will accompany the tour to Skytop Lodge where Mr. and Mrs. William Malleon and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Biles will be hosts for a tea.

Pageant Saturday

At 7:30 Saturday, the Miss Pocono Mountains pageant will be held at the Pocono Mountain Joint School in Swiftwater with Fran Shinn as master of ceremonies.

Members of the East Stroudsburg State College Male Glee Club will again escort the girls.

Public appearances and special luncheons have been planned to honor the Junior Miss and Miss Pocono Mountain winners. Each winner will hold her title for a full year and act in a capacity as ambassador for the Pocono Mountains both locally and in personal appearances outside the Poconos.

Each winner will represent this area in state contests later in the year, one to try for the title of Junior Miss Pennsylvania and the other for Miss Pennsylvania.
